

Create a Charity Bracket

In addition to her restaurant benefit nights, Caroline Edwards also raised money for her 5K team by hosting a charity bracket. Caroline does this at a holiday party with her friends every year. Each person donates and has the option to nominate a charity. Then you roll dice to see which charities advance in the bracket. The downside is that your charity might not win, but the money will definitely go to a good cause. Caroline nominated the MMRF at the 2016 Christmas party and it won!
